Chairman's Message, by Nathan Wakefield

"To render assistance to fellow jugglers."

That has long been the mantra of the IJA. We strive to do just that; to benefit jugglers young and old, professionals to hobbyists, all over the world. There are several areas that we have been focusing on that exemplify just that.

Our youth education program, Youth Juggling Academy (YJA), continues to expand. The juggling merit badges we have been doing are a huge hit in the program! In the next couple months, we have a variety of new badges that will be released for students to earn for their progress. We are also set to have an improved online presence for YJA with more information and regular updates. For those attending the IJA festival this summer, the YJA will also have a table set up with information about the program for those that would like to get involved.

Our IRC program has three events happening this year: Central America, Mexico, and South America. We are pleased to be sponsoring events in these areas and rewarding those who choose to compete!

Expect to see videos of these events available for IJA members (only) later this year on eJuggle.

World Juggling Day is less than one month away! Once again, we will be selling a brand new World Juggling Day T-shirt in our store. To see this year's design and follow other WJD developments, check out our World Juggling Day Facebook page. Are you hosting a WJD event or looking for a WJD event near you? If so, hop on over to our WJD events page for more information.

In IJA Board news, I would like to welcome Bob Neuman to the IJA Board of Directors.

Lucho Fernandez has resigned from his position on the Board of Directors and Bob has been appointed to serve the duration of that term. We wish Lucho all the best in his future endeavors, and we are thrilled to have a long time IJA supporter such as Bob back on the Board.

Speaking of which, our deadline for IJA Board Nominations has been extended to June 19th. If you are interested in running for board or would like to nominate someone, don't be shy! Every year we have a few spots open for fresh faces and new ideas. No matter what your walk of life in juggling, everyone has something unique and valuable to contribute. Submit nominations and inquires to: ijanominations@juggle.org

Juggle on,

Nathan Wakefield

Wanted! Coordinators for the IJA fest!

Parade coordinator: motivation and energy, good leadership

Marketing team: knowledge of social media and of the juggling community -- we need people from every country

To volunteer your time to make IJA 2015 epic, please contact Véronique Provencher at: festival2015@juggle.org

Get your passport now for entry to Canada -- and for returning home!

Remember: You need a passport to enter Canada. Just as importantly, you will need one to re-enter your own country. Passport cards and enhanced driver's licenses can only be used at land crossings; you cannot use them to travel by air. Apply now -- it can take close to two months (or maybe a big extra fee for a quick turnaround).

All About the IJA Festival in Quebec City

We have published a lot of information about the festival on our brand new website, currently dedicated to the festival, registration and membership. The festival web pages are all up to date. Go to ym.juggle.org and use the Festival (or Menu) link to see all the latest information, in English and French!

Our hosts, Turbo418, translated the pages for us to help promote the festival locally in Quebec. There is a lot of interest in this festival!

See the list below for all the festival web pages.

Note that you must be logged in to the fest website as an IJA member in order to register for the festival. After you've logged in, use the Festival menu to go to Register Now!

About the Festival

Basic facts about the festival and venues

Venues -

Detailed information about the venues. There is a strict no drugs/alcohol policy at the gym. The security staff reserves the right to search bags - just like everywhere else the IJA has been in recent years.

Important Indoor Camping survey for IJA fest attendees, by Martin Frost

We'd like everyone who will be attending the IJA fest in Quebec City to fill out an important but quick one-question survey to let us know whether or not you plan to utilize indoor camping at the fest site.

Indoor camping will cost $10 per night per person, to be paid at the festival. You don't need to make a camping reservation.

If you'll be at the fest, it's important to fill out the survey even if you're not planning to camp.

The survey page will require you to log in, if you're not already logged in. Please take the survey here:

ym.juggle.org/surveys/?id=2015FestCampingSurvey

Information on indoor camping at the IJA fest is available here:

ym.juggle.org/?page=Lodging#camping

Machine de Cirque show at IJA fest, by Don Lewis

Take a multidisciplinary group of successful international stage performers with a lot of curiosity, place them in an environment where ideas can flourish, and an amazing production team like Machine de Cirque gets formed.

At the IJA fest, we will get to see their latest show fresh from a run at Montreal's circus festival. You don't get invited to perform at that international festival unless you are really good.

Take a look at their website to see individual biographies of the performers and a video clip from their current show. It will be an evening of surprises that you won't want to miss.

Travel Insurance for Healthcare, by Don Lewis

It is a popular misconception that healthcare in Canada is free. It isn't. Healthcare is administered by the provinces according to national guidelines. Each province has an independent healthcare system and the coverage does vary somewhat between provinces. The Quebec healthcare system is administered by the Regie de l'Assurance Maladie du Québec (RAMQ)

Visitors to Canada are not eligible for coverage by the provincial healthcare plans. All services must be paid for on the spot. It is important to understand this, since hospital fees are due when service is rendered.

Each hospital has a schedule of fees for various services. At a minimum, a visit to the Emergency Room would cost $680 plus a $200 fee for the doctor on duty. Diagnostic tests might increase that total. If you are admitted to the hospital, then the daily cost would probably be around $2300, likely including a request for a three day deposit.

You may already have travel insurance which covers healthcare emergencies. If it does not include direct payment (which it probably does not), you will have to pay for services and get reimbursed later. Most insurances will only pay for you to be stabilized and sent home as fast as possible. If you are traveling in a group, that might be a problem.

Travel insurance for visitors to Canada is available from a variety of suppliers. Some have to be purchased before you travel, and others can be purchased soon after you arrive. Check your coverage before you leave home, and consider personal coverage provided by companies in Canada such as Blue Cross. Search the web for "Travel insurance for visitors to Canada".

Some US insurance companies will only reimburse based on itemized procedure codes listed on the hospital bill. Those codes may not be the same as the ones used in Quebec.

The Quebec healthcare system is world class, but it isn't free. Summer is a difficult time in hospitals with vacations leaving institutions short staffed. Dire emergencies are treated right away. Lesser problems may wait for hours to be seen after triage.

One exception to coverage exclusion for visitors is a traffic accident. If you are injured by a car, you may be covered by Quebec's no-fault auto insurance. If this misfortune happens to you, make sure that there is a police report.

You are not going to need medical care. Think positively! And understand the risk to your wallet.

Canadians from other provinces have a similar problem. They may have to pay for services and then be reimbursed by their provincial healthcare system. In rare circumstances, there may be a reciprocal agreement in place. The fees for Canadians with a provincial medicare card are significantly less than those for visitors from outside Canada. Quebecers with a medicare card do not have to pay any fees for medical services, apart from ambulance fees.

If you use prescription medication, make sure that you bring an adequate supply with you. In Quebec, pharmacists can only fill prescriptions written by a Quebec licensed doctor. Don't put important medications in your checked luggage. Carry them with you.

If you do need to see a doctor, a local walk-in clinic may be a faster and less expensive option. You should have the contact information for your regular family doctor available in case that is requested. There is a walk-in clinic (Centre Médical Le Mesnil) about 10 minutes away by taxi that is accustomed to dealing with travelers from other countries in English.

Some services, such as physiotherapy, are accessible directly without a doctor's prescription.

Friendly Change to Family Memberships (and Life Memberships), by Martin Frost

At the March Board meeting, the IJA Board agreed to simplify and limit family dues when multiple family members live at the same location. This will have negligible effect on revenue, while simplifying the renewal process and encouraging members to add more family members as IJA members.

Formerly, an adult member ($29/year) could add additional family IJA members for $5/year each. So, for example, two parents and two teenagers would cost $44/year in membership dues.

Under the new policy, a fixed $34/year Family Membership can include any number of family members living at one location. The example of two parents and two teenagers now costs only $34/year (as would a family consisting of two parents, four teenagers and two grandparents).

If your IJA membership already included one or more additional family members, your membership type will have automatically become a Family Membership, as you'll see when it's time to renew (for $34, no matter how many additional family members your membership includes).

If you want to change from Individual to Family Membership, so that you can include other members of your family as IJA members, that's easy to do when you renew. Just select the Family Membership option in the online renewal form.

To join with a Family Membership, a primary family member should be chosen and that person should join with the Family Membership option selected. The primary member can then add family members at no additional cost by logging in at <http://ym.juggle.org>, clicking on Manage Profile, and then selecting My Family Members.

For Life Members, adding family IJA members is now FREE, as long as they reside with the Life Member. If you're a Life Member and want to add additional family members (for free) under your IJA membership, if you don't see "My Family Members" under Manage Profile, just send a note to memberships@juggle.org requesting to have your Life Membership enabled to include free additional family members.

Individual membership dues and youth membership dues are unchanged at $29 and $24 per year, respectively, and life membership is unchanged at $1250.

Write an article for eJuggle, by Don Lewis eJuggle is the IJA's electronic magazine available on the Internet. Some exclusive content is only available to IJA members. The rest of the articles and videos serve as a sort of ambassador for the IJA, a service to juggling that is one of the IJA'S founding precepts.

eJuggle isn't just for professional writers. You can write an article for eJuggle. We want to know what is important to you. Perhaps your juggling club is doing something interesting? Let us know about it so others can benefit from your experience.

Your article will be reviewed by experienced editors for clarity, grammar, and syntax. You will be consulted about suggested changes.

There are lots of interesting things happening in the juggling world, and we all want to hear more about it. Take advantage of this privileged access to the global community of jugglers.

Scott Seltzer is the editor-in-chief of eJuggle. For more information about submitting information to eJuggle, please contact Scott at ezineeditor@juggle.org.

WJD shirts, YJA badges, DVDs in new IJA Store, by Martin Frost

This year's World Juggling Day T-shirt is now available in the new IJA Store, which also offers YJA Badges to recognize juggling achievement and IJA fest DVDs.

The new WJD T-shirts are available in men's and women's styles and four sizes, at: <http://ym.juggle.org/store/ListProducts.aspx?catid=460223>.

YJA badges are now available for balls, clubs, rings, juggler, teacher, performer and donor, and they're at: <http://ym.juggle.org/store/ListProducts.aspx?catid=448051>. For more info on the YJA achievement badge program, see this eJuggle article.

The 2011 and 2012 IJA fest DVDs (newer DVDs are still being edited) are at: <http://ym.juggle.org/store/ListProducts.aspx?catid=449785>.

You don't need to be logged in to the new IJA website to purchase items from the Store, but if you do log in, you'll be sure to get any IJA member discount that's offered, including 25% off on fest DVDs.

The new IJA Store is on the new IJA website and can be accessed at: <http://ym.juggle.org/store>.

Having a Juggling Festival? List it here!

If you're organizing a juggling festival (or if you simply know of a juggling fest) and you want to advertise it in the IJA eNewsletter, just drop a note to eNewsletter editor Don Lewis enews@juggle.org. Such listings are free.

The eNewsletter generally comes out near the end of each month. Your festival can be listed for a few months, and you don't have to be an IJA affiliate to have a fest listed. Hey, jugglers want to know about juggling fests. Help them out and get more jugglers to your fest at the same time.
